Kroj (costume) Rules

- A 250 word description of your kroj must be sent with the Entry Form. This description will be read aloud as you model your kroj on the stage during the kroj competition. Example: Suzy is wearing an Americanized kroj. If the description is more than 250 words, the pageant committee will edit the contestant's description. There are two divisions in the Kroj category: Americanized and Authentic divisions. The kroj should represent your family's heritage. Judges may deduct point for krojs that do not represent the region, town or village of your family's ancestry.
- Kroj description should include (but not limited to):
 - The origin, how it represents you, if any part is authentic, the meaning of the kroj and physical description.
- All contestants receive similar introduction including: Name, State, Kroj Division, and Kroj construction. This information is found on the entry form. This introduction does not count towards 250 word count.
- Authentic kroj are traditional Czech, Moravian, Silesian, Rusyn or Slovak costumes that are from the native country or are very similar representatives of the original. For example, if you took a picture and recreated the authentic picture. Contestant must bring two pictures (one front and one back) of the authentic replicated kroj to be presented to the judges during the kroj competition. Pictures must be in color and a 4x6 photo.
- Americanized kroj are costumes that represent Czech, Moravian, Silesian, Rusyn or Slovak ancestry with American or modern accents.
- Description should be 12 point Times New Roman font, double spaced and able to print on one page.
- Description must be typed with contestant's name and state in page header.
- All kroj descriptions must be emailed to the pageant director

Talent Rules

- Talent act is limited to no more than four minutes. It begins with a formal introduction and concludes with work, note or motion.
- Contestants are encouraged, but not mandated, to introduce their talent including: what talent they will be performing, why they chose their talent and how it relates to the contestant. The introduction is part of the four minute time limit.
- Talent can be signing, dancing, playing a musical instrument, dramatic reading, art display, dress designing, poetry, drawings, gymnastics, or a verbal oration on a subject or topic.
- Pre-recorded, and pre-created props will not be considered/judged in overall performance.
- An on-stage accompanist is allowed but no other partners can perform with contestant.
- Contestants must describe their talent in detail on their pageant application.
- Contestants are responsible for all props for their talent. Pageant will provide, microphone (handheld and cordless), piano, and speaker system. All other props must be provided by the contestant.
 - Talent is performed at the Wilber Outdoor Theatre. Powerpoint presentations are not recommended and are not guaranteed to be seen by judges and audience.
- We encourage contestants to perform their talent in Czech or Slovak language or works by Czech or Slovak composers. However, performing a Czech or Slovak talent is not mandatory.
- There will be an official talent timer located next to the judges table. The timer will hold up cards at minute intervals for the contestant's information. At four minutes the timer will hold up a STOP card. If the stop card is held up the contestant will be deducted 5 points from her overall talent score.

At – Large Program

Currently there are 9 state pageants – Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, Oklahoma, South Dakota, Texas, and Wisconsin.

If a contestant would like to represent a state without a state pageant, they must enter via the national at-large program.

1. If a state has a Board of Director Member (BOD), that Director has the right for 1st appointment of the state contestant.
2. If the BOD has not found a contestant by April 1, the national pageant can appoint a candidate, meeting the national rules, to a state.
3. If your state does not have a Board of Director please immediately contact the national pageant director.
4. All at-large contestants must have their pageant entry form, picture and questions sent to the national pageant director by May 1 for confirmation by the pageant committee.
5. At-large contestants will be notified by May 10 of status of application and must turn in entry fee and kroj description by June 1 to complete the application.

At-large contestants can submit their application for approval at any time prior to May 1.

If an at-large contestant submits the above requirements earlier than May 1, she will receive early approval.
Contact the national pageant director for all at-large questions.
